Saab signs MoU with Polish company PGZ

Saab has entered into an agreement with the PGZ Group, Poland's largest defence corporation. Both parties aim to establish cooperation as potential partners in projects supporting the security of Poland and Europe.

The Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) was signed during the international defence industry exhibition MSPO in Kielce, Poland. It confirms the interest between the PGZ Group and Saab in exploring potential cooperation on projects related to the development of defence solutions for multi-domain operations. Both companies will also evaluate possibilities for joint initiatives supporting Ukraine, including cooperation with the Ukrainian industry.

"We are pleased to have signed this agreement today, and look forward to cooperating with the PGZ Group. This is another important milestone in strengthening the collaboration between the Polish and Swedish defence industries. There is great potential for expanding the existing partnership between our nations to ensure security and stability in Europe, including the Baltic Sea region," says Micael Johansson, President and CEO of Saab.

The cooperation may include various projects across air, land, and naval domains. The goal is to build industrial relationships that could lead to a strategic partnership between the two companies and to play an active role in modernising the capabilities of the Polish Armed Forces.
